

CORPORATE PROFILE

Streamline is a national multi-family building restoration and construction company that specializes in delivering high-quality restoration and construction projects on time and within budget.

Our services add significant value to the underlying real estate asset, as illustrated in the restoration case study on page three . We do this by fusing restoration and construction know-how with high level project management expertise. From coordinating sub-trades to managing cash flow, Streamline handles all of the details so our clients don't have to.

Select members of our management team have extensive background in all facets of new home construction, which means we are well-positioned to launch our new construction division. Our shift into new home construction begins with LaCasa on the Lake, a high-end resort community on Lake Okanagan in Kelowna, British Columbia consisting of 451 cottage homes. This resort development offers an exciting opportunity for us to showcase our construction expertise.

how streamline delivers value

Our success is rooted in a keen understanding of the restoration and construction industry. Since 2002, we have managed numerous multi-family building restoration projects valued at over $17 million worth of quality restoration work from various markets across Canada. Our management team, with over 55 years of combined experience in single and multi-family residential construction, is able to deliver a smooth, low risk construction process.

Our firm commitment to quality workmanship, coupled with extensive real-world experience saves our clients time and money, not to mention the stress and frustration so often involved with building restoration and construction projects.
